

So we posted the game this weekend and have had an awesome response! Thank you to everyone for all your support. No, it wasn't perfect and we didn't expect it to be, but we have a ton of people playing and loving MP and that is just great for all of us to hear.

Here's the link:

The Demo IS THE GAME! You have nothing else to download. All you have to do is to buy an activation code and type it in the demo and you have the full game. We had a store all setup for this, but as most plans do, it went awry :)

So we set up a paypal account because there are so many people just dying to play the full game. We're processing the orders ourselves. You don't need a paypal account to purchase. You just need one of the forms of payments that they accept and a valid email. Otherwise how are we going to get you the activation code?

So download the game with the first link, buy the activation code with the second link. Then type it in on the first screen you see and you'll be good to go.

Please be patient with us. The response has been overwhelming. Our forums are running very slow and we're playing catchup. There's a lot of posts to go through.

Thank you!
